

ISP's have been frustrated by having to interact with Telstra to deliver ISDN services for the ISP's customers, and yet receiving no payment or incentive for their work. With Greenbay ADSL the ISP can simply arrange the entire process of establishing an Internet or Intranet connection for a small business customer, and be rewarded for selling the service. Greenbay also offers convenient modem/router packages and field-installation should the ISP need them.